FOREWORD

It is the desire of most yearbooks to express one central idea or theme. This year we have not selected a definite theme, but we have endeavored to record on these pages the events of this year. For many years we have only presented the favorites and extra-curricular activities of our school. When we added an extra eight pages, we decided they should be devoted to the courses and classes offered so as to give the complete picture of the life of a student in Shamrock High School.

We, the members of the annual staff, have truly enjoyed preparing this yearbook for you and we hope you will treasure this book as a diary of happy memories of 1957.

To the Students and Teachers of Shamrock High:

Embodied in the pages of this annual is the pictorial history of another good year in the Shamrock Schools. As we finish the year, I think we can be justly proud of the achievements that have been gained through an excellent spirit of cooperation.

In looking to the future with thankfulness for a new school plant and improved conditions of learning, each of us, students and teachers, should dedicate ourselves to a higher plane of effort in the coming years. Only through proper planning and effort can we gain the satisfaction of a "job-well-done."

The annual staff and their sponsor are to be congratulated on another fine yearbook. It should serve as a pleasant reminder to all students of the good years you have spent in the Shamrock Schools.

Yours sincerely,

Kenneth M. Laycock

Kenneth M. Laycock
Superintendent

May I express my appreciation to the students and faculty of Shamrock High School for your wonderful spirit of cooperation and loyalty. Your hand work and many hours of planning and doing have made this school year 1956-57, a most successful and profitable one. Let us remember that no goal, however high, is impossible to reach if we allow our minds to work together and exert enough energy. Let us always set our goals higher and never be satisfied with anything short of success.

Sincerely,

Boyd Williams

CLASSES

ENGLISH

L.H. Tucker and Julia Teegerstrom recording their voices. This teaches us to communicate our ideas accurately, clearly and effectively.

Van Orrick leading a class discussion. Reasoning and discussion develop our minds and provide the foundation for clear thinking in the years ahead.

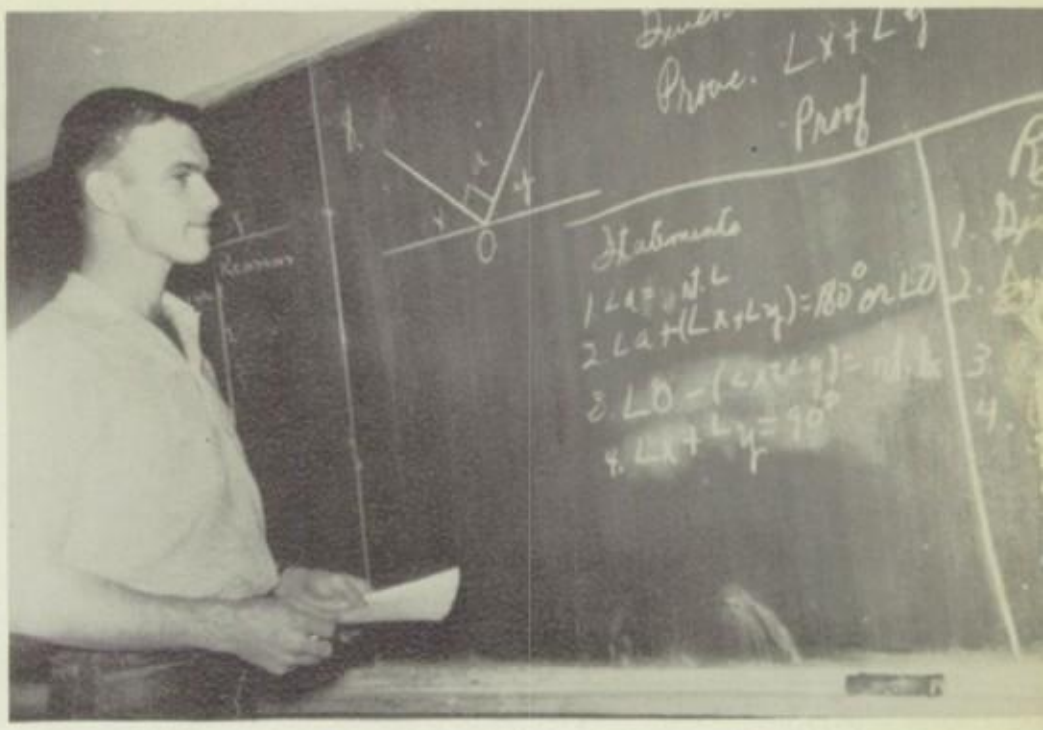
Learning to express ideas and knowledge in writing. Mrs. Neece helps Senior English students in writing research themes.

In Junior English, American literature is studied. Here the students are pointing out points of importance in American Literature on the literature map.

English students gathering information by reading. Students read to gain speed and comprehension of the material.

MATH

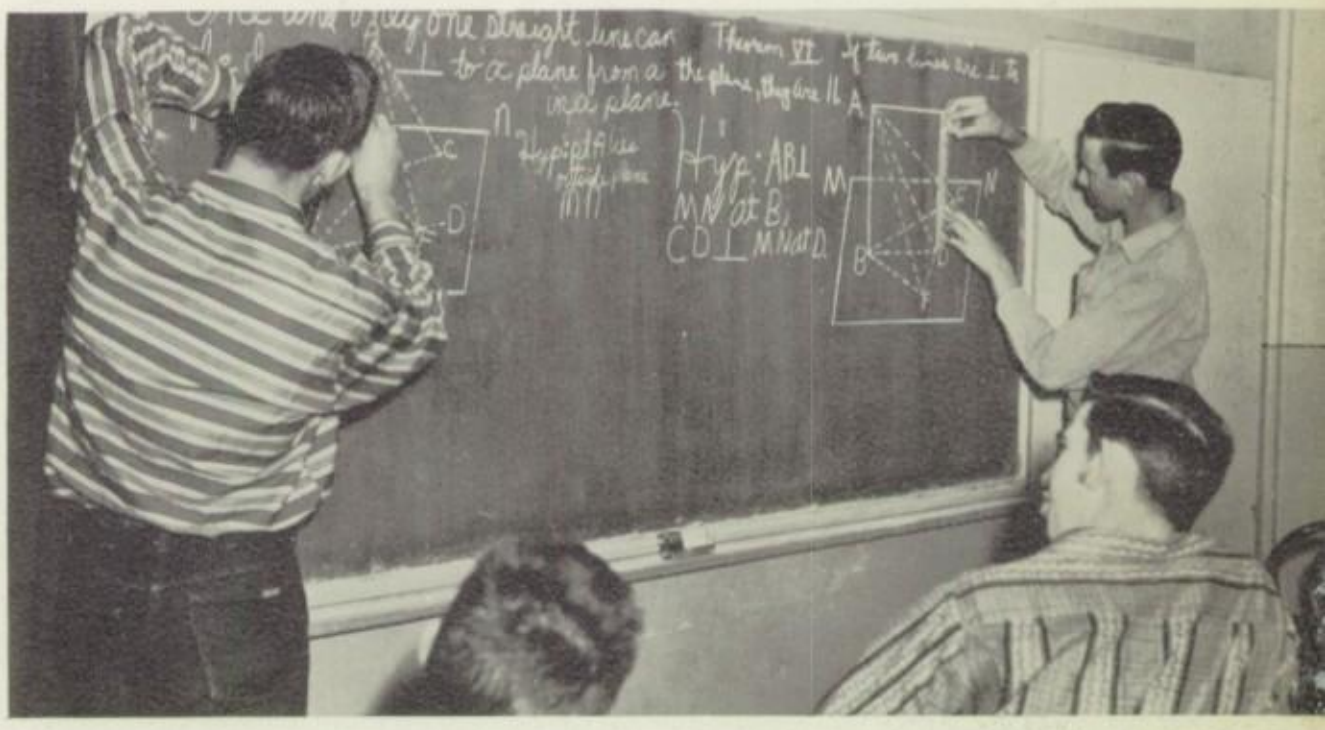
Mrs. Montgomery is explaining graphs to three of her freshmen students.



Formal demonstration is emphasized by board work.

Math develops the students thinking and reasoning ability. It cultivates quantitative judgement and provides an insight of mathematic aspects of the modern world, scientific achievements and economic questions.

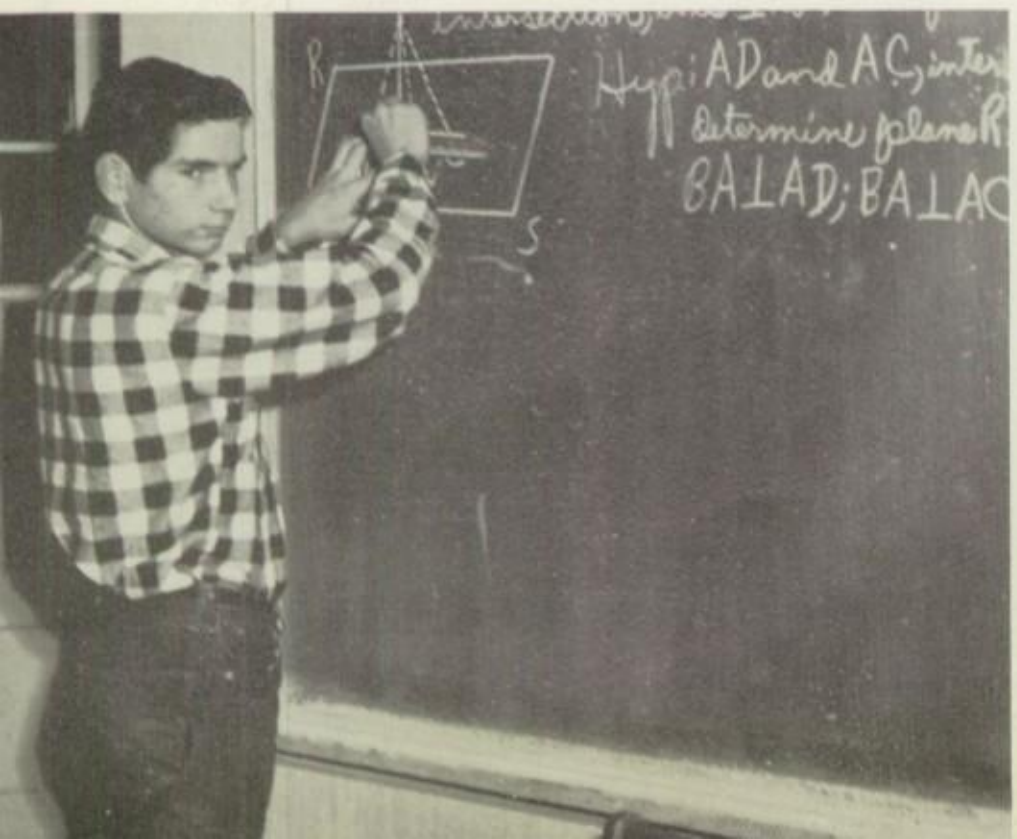
Individuals who accept positions of leadership and responsibility should be competent in mathematics.



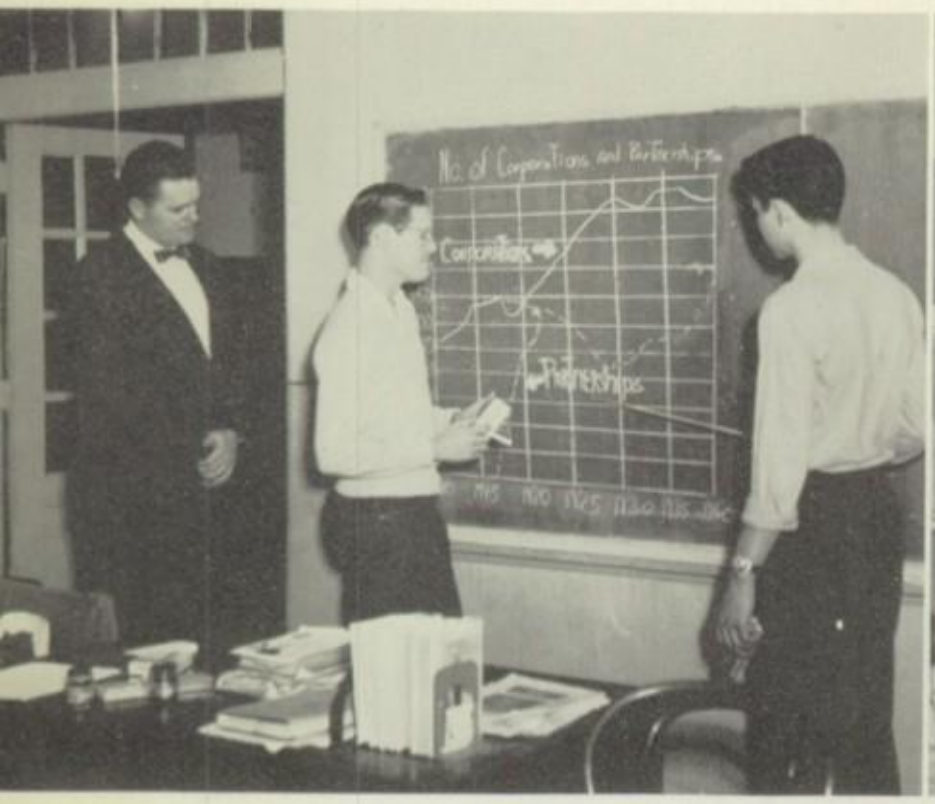
The subjects getting solid!--Note concentration of the students.

Geometry is the finest training the human mind can have. It developes the art of reasoning.

Emphasis is placed on the student learning by seeing and doing.



SOCIAL STUDIES



Economics provides the student with an introductory survey of the activities by which people earn a living.

Mr. Connolly pointing out on the World News of the Week map places where history is being made. History helps us to understand the world today by studying past events.

Mr. Williams leading a discussion on the Presidential election of 1956. In civics we learn to become better informed citizens.

Coach Bond writing information on the board about weather conditions and erosion of the soil. Geography is the study of the relationship of man and his surroundings.

SCIENCE

The study of science helps the student gain a knowledge and interest in science that will aid him in a broader, more satisfying life in this Atomic Age.

It also helps to lay a foundation for a career in scientific fields such as: teaching science, medicine, pharmacy, technicians, nursing, and engineering.

Biology class looking a little "beasties", protozoa, or mold.

Visual aids used in chemistry.

Biology class studying Chordates.

A few seniors in Second Period Chemistry class.

Pat smiled before the H_2S was generated.

COMMERCIAL

Mrs. Esther Connolly, our commercial teacher is introducing technical terminology used by a bookkeeper and accountant.

The main purpose of business math is to develop speed and accuracy in the basic fundamentals of math.

Business law is taught to develop the power of reason and to exercise good judgement in the explanationof legal principles and private affairs.

Training students to become proficient in handling the daily recording and financial routine of a bookkeeper.

Students are trained to write shorthand by dictation practice.

Typewriting skills are learned through actual work on the part of the student.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Students are reading in Spanish, while others are improving on writing Spanish.

The Spanish class is gaining a better understanding of Spanish heritage, and are developing a deeper understanding of the culture of Spanish-speaking countries.

Latin gives the student a vocabulary that will not only increase his pleasure in reading Latin, and give him the main principles in Latin, but will also greatly enrich his knowledge of English.

Latin relates the relationship of our ancient and modern life, and also shows us the contributions the Romans and Greeks have given to modern civilization.

DRIVER'S EDUCATION

The proper maintenance of a car is taught by studying diagrams of the car, as well as the actual working mechanism.

Sportsmanlike driving is achieved through experience in both class work and behind the wheel training.

We believe that the best way to become a competent driver is to develop self-control, correct-information, high-quality skills and good social attitudes from the start.

We study the individual, both as a driver and as a pedestrian. We learn the step-by-step procedure for driving a car and the proper purchase, operation and maintenance of a car.

Second Semester Class

First Semester Class

The reading room contains good information.

Marilyn, Charlie and Mrs. Montgomery are busy in library.

LIBRARY AND STUDY HALL

The School Library amplifies and expands the work of the classroom and presents through the realm of appropriate books, daily news paper, magazines, the vertical file, and other non-book materials, new horizons of learning.

Charles and Tommy study the globe. Their work here will pay off.

Books provide enjoyment as well as information.

The Shamrock High School Band and Chorus will go to Canyon in April to participate in the Inter-Scholastic Contest this year. The Band won three, third places last year and third this year in marching. We are hoping to show improvement this year in our sight reading and concert numbers. We hope to show this improvement at contest as well on stage.

Don Burkhalter, Student Council President, presented a new flag to the high school.

During the year 1956-57, the Student Council has done the following things: made the school float for St. Patrick's Day, had charge of the concession stand at the basketball games, and established the Honor Roll.

ANNUAL STAFF

Mrs. Smith, sponsor; Ettabelle Williams, Business manager; Mary McMaskill, artist; Barbara Schaffner, editor; Donnie Dodgen, assistant-editor.

When walking into the annual room
One walks into a maze
Of flurred words and planning people
Surrounded, engulfed by a busy haze.

At the square topped table
In animated discussion
Amid flying paper and loud "Ideas"
Sits the sponsor, quite use to the clamoring percussion.

For nothing is unusual
In this room where memories are preserved,
Except when heavy eyes and tired hands
make frantic work,
To meet a deadline, then no limits are observed.

At times like these the editor
With hardly three minutes to spare
Rushes out headlong
Dodging cars, upsetting people, the deadline her only care.

In this cluttered, oblong room
The staff makes memories into pictures.
So that as the years go by
You will still remember every person, every picture.

Yes, years from now when children laugh
And giggle at the old fashioned look,
You may pause to think back over youth
That lies caught here in this Book.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals have been a part of the school activities since last year. This has allowed a major part of the student body to participate in Physical Education. It has given us healthy attitudes towards competition in sports. This has also created better sportsmanship among the student body. We believe the students have enjoyed and profited, since intramurals have been created.
